

Politics Is Job Of Everyone Says Pitman

Yet Only 52% of Those Eligible Vote, City Official States

Spoke at GOP Registration Rally

Politics is the business of every man and woman, Ralph W. Pitman, treasurer of Philadelphia, told members of the Lower Merion Township Republican Committee at a registration rally Wednesday night.

"It is up to you and me to interest ourselves in our own government and the way it is run," said Pitman, "just as much as we look after our homes, our business and the spiritual, mental and physical development of our own children."

But, he pointed out, national figures show that only 80 per cent of those eligible to vote register and of those who are registered only 65 per cent vote. Therefore, 52 per cent of those who are eligible to vote do all the voting and the winning candidates are actually voted into office by a mere 27 per cent of those who are eligible to vote.

That means, he emphasized, that the country is run by 27 per cent of those who have the privilege of voting.

"I know some businessmen," said Pitman, "who continually criticize their Congressmen and other public officials—but always to one another at board meetings, clubs and luncheons. It's obviously futile to make political speeches to yourselves. Why not sell your beliefs to a guy who is going to vote against your candidate?"

"I have heard people say 'get close to your Congressman'—after he is in.

"I say get close to him before he is elected. Help select him. If

Bell Tel To Buy Ardmore Property

Site Will House New Dial Central Office In Future

Purchase of an Ardmore property as a site for a future dial telephone central office was announced this week by Carl F. Schweizer, manager of the Ardmore branch of the Bell Telephone Company.

The property, located on the south side of Lancaster Ave., just west of Church Rd., is now occupied by a gasoline station and is owned by St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

Agreement Signed
Schweizer stated that, although final settlement has not been completed, an agreement of sale has been signed by officials of the church.

"Present material shortages make it impossible to say when the new building will be erected, or when local telephone service will be changed to dial operation," Schweizer said.

He added that details of the company's plans are now being studied, but it will be several years before the project can be completed.

He also stated that a change to dial operation in any community of this size is a major project costing millions of dollars.

Well, now "Rickle" is grown-up and has herself quite a following among the young fry of the Boro. "Gyp" says even housewives of the town come by to feed her and that she has developed a taste for beef stew. He was a partner in the plumbing supply firm of Walls, Owen and Stanback, of 12th and Buttonwood Sts., Philadelphia, until it was dissolved eight years ago. At the time of his death he was associated with the Keystone Brass and Rubber Co., Inc., of 2701 N. Broad St., Philadelphia.

1880 Bonnet Found In Attic Is The Latest Thing In Fall Hats

Miss Jean Reichner Faries, of 15 Llanberis Rd., Cynwyd, has a new hat. It was purchased from a Chestnut St., Philadelphia, shop. The latest thing in black felt, it is built on derby lines with a high flat crown and upturned brim, dipping slightly at the front and back.

A wide band of taffeta encircles the crown and there is a tiny band of grosgrain at the edge of the brim. The crowning glory, however, is an enormous shirred taffeta bow at the back, reminiscent of old-time mutton sleeves.

Back o' Shop
Miss Faries is completely charmed with her new hat. However, not satisfied with its fit, she took it back to the shop this week to be re-blocked and freshened.

You see, she didn't buy the hat herself. Her aunt, Miss Jane Bowler Reichner, bought it 65 years ago to complete a new fall outfit. When Miss Faries told her aunt she was thinking of having one of

Pleads Guilty To Drunken Driving

Bryn Mawr Driver Passed Sobriety Test After Taking Drinks

Leonard Gillespie, 38, of Bryn Mawr, pleaded guilty Friday in Montgomery County Court to a drunken driving charge despite the fact Dr. A. C. Messmer, Lower Merion Township police surgeon, did not pronounce him intoxicated or unfit to drive an automobile.

Gillespie told Judge Harold G. Knight he started to hunt for an apartment and then went to a twilight baseball game. On the way home to his sister's home in Ardmore Park, he stopped for a few drinks, he said.

Later, while driving North on Ardmore Ave. near Athens Ave., he struck an automobile driven by Robert S. Harrell, 41, of 819 Ardmore Ave., Ardmore Park.

Third Car Hit
Harrell's car was jolted against a parked sedan belonging to John Bryson, of 147 Montgomery Ave., Cynwyd. Lower Merion Twp. police estimated the damage to the three cars at several hundred dollars.

Dr. Messmer said that Gillespie passed the required tests when police brought him to the Lower Merion police station for a hearing before Judge of the Peace Joseph B. Allen, Jr. A garage-man said the 1923 car Gillespie was driving was in poor condition and that the accident had been caused by a locked steering wheel.

But there were other witnesses who testified that Gillespie was intoxicated and for that reason he pleaded guilty. Gillespie's lawyer said it was a border-line case and one that might well be brought before a jury. Gillespie, however, insisted on the guilty plea. He was fined $100 and costs.

YMCA Plans New Building Location

Plans for a new Main Line YMCA building are being discussed by a group of committees and officials of the Ardmore unit. The committees were organized after many members expressed a desire for a new and modern structure.

Under the general chairmanship of Major Samuel W. Gearhart, superintendent of Lower Merion Police, the group has named several sub-committees to investigate possible locations for the new building. Needs of the community and the facilities best suited to meet them are also being discussed.

Committee Members
The committees, under the direction of J. Thomas Steere, of Haverford, and Frank H. Mancill, of Merion, include Robert F. Brown, of Bala-Cynwyd; Mrs. Samuel J. McCartney, of Narberth; Jules Prevost, of Wayne; Earl Young, of Ardmore; the Rev. Ben Stone, of Broomall; and Walter Irwin, of Merion Golf Manor.

Plans formulated by the committees must be approved by the central branch of the YMCA, in Philadelphia, before actual work can be undertaken.

The building now occupied by the Main Line unit is located on Lancaster Ave., opposite the Auto-Car Company. Activities of the "Y" have been held there for the past 20 years.

No Location Yet
Actual location of the new building has not yet been determined, but A. O. Becker, secretary of the Ardmore unit, stated that it would be somewhere in Ardmore.

Becker further stated that a drive for funds would be undertaken in the near future. Suggestions from nearby residents and members for the actual location, design, and adequate equipment will be welcomed by the committees, he said.

Mrs. Samuel J. McCartney Will Report on Federation Meeting At Narberth Club October 1

Mrs. Samuel J. McCartney will make a report of her trip to the 55th annual meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in Chicago in June at the local Club's first gathering October 1. She was the only local president to represent her club as a delegate.

Announced Wednesday
The announcement was made at a meeting of the calendar committee of the club held in the club rooms Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. McCartney is president of the Narberth organization.

Her report will appear in the Fall issue of "Roundtable," a publication of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

In excerpts from her article Mrs. McCartney said, "If a clubwoman is ever uncertain as to the value of women's organizations, all she needs to revive her enthusiasm is a trip to a General Federation meeting. For women are learning that it is their world and they should do something about it." Mrs. McCartney went on to comment that her energy and interest in so many enterprises probably stem from the fact that she was born on a farm, one of 10 children, and learned in early childhood that freedom and liberty carry with them positive responsibility.

"One learns that easily," she added, "when one takes his place in a large family."

Also among the features of the first meeting of the Club, will be vocal selections by Jean La Roche, who recently won a contract with the American Broadcasting Company.

At the October 15 meeting, there will be a reception of new members, with past presidents receiving in line with Mrs. McCartney. There will also be a music trio, with mezzo-soprano Lois Thomasson, Bampton, violinist Dorothy Hodge Polk, and accompanist Muriel Hodge Sabina.

Conservation will be the topic of the November 5 meeting. The guest speaker will be Mrs. Ortha Lane of Woodcock Farms, Westtown, chairman of the Philadelphia Flower Show last year. She will make four table arrangements with fresh flowers from her own greenhouses.

Dr. Yale Nathanson, Assistant Professor of Psychology at Temple University and well-known authority on juvenile delinquency, will be the speaker at the November 19 meeting.

Mrs. McCartney, Mrs. A. Wesley Ayars, appointment chairman, Mrs. Gilbert MacLaren, publicity chairman and Mrs. Charles McCartney, Jr., met at the latter's home, 22 Iona Ave., at 12:30 P. M. Wednesday to discuss the calendar's makeup from October to December.

Houdry Wins Suit Against Federal Gov't

Eugene Houdry, of Mill Creek Rd., Ardmore, inventor of the Houdry oil refining process, won a $26,399 income tax case last week in the U. S. Tax Court, Philadelphia. The decision allows Houdry to deduct $67,000 from his 1941 taxable income because of the loss of an estate in France seized by the Vichy government.

Judge Clarence W. Opper reversed a previous decision of the Commission of Internal Revenue, disallowing the claim and asking for $26,399 additional tax for 1941.

gomery Court Apartments. They just got back from Oakland, Iowa, last week, where they were helping Mrs. Hull's mother and father celebrate their 40th wedding anniversary.

Congratulations to Bob Cameron, whom I spotted at the Lower Merion Twp. Republican Committee's dinner up at Haverford Court Hotel Wednesday. He was telling me that he has a new job as of right now. Seems he is the new public relations director for the Automobile Club of Philadelphia.

Everybody is missing Sgt. Charlie Givins' cheery smile. . . . He started his vacation Sunday, and Monday he won an evening of pinocle with the boys over at Elm Hall. Ernie Jenkins, Joe Rubman and Bob Hobson were the losers, but they couldn't begrudge Charlie his vacation luck.

Mrs. Frank B. Allen, of Flat Rock Rd., Penn Valley, has a novel idea. . . . She and her brother Bill Eickie, of Haverford, are going to build identical cottages on Lake Champlain. And both cottages will be large enough to accommodate their children and grandchildren; they'll be forming their own family camp life, which sounds like lots of fun. You know Mr. Allen's family. There is her son Homer and his wife, Lou, of Hidden River Rd., Penn Valley, and their two children, Christine and Frank. Her daughter, Mary Blythe Allen, a nurse at Bryn Mawr Hospital, will become the bride of John McBride shortly.

Guess that is about all for this week, but I'll see you Sept. 13 when Summer is just about over and everyone will be back in town with lots of news. . . . 'Bye for now.

highway, which parallels the East Branch of Indian Creek.

Lower Merion Township will bear the cost of construction of the approaches to both ends of the highway.

Actual construction will be undertaken entirely by the State, which, at the completion of the work, will bill the Borough and Township for their share of the expense.

Williams, who died in 1942, was a cousin of the late N. Parker Shortridge, president of the Philadelphia National Bank and a vice president of the Pennsylvania Railroad. He inherited the 99-acre Shortridge estate upon the death of Mrs. Shortridge in 1929. The land donated by Williams lies at the northeast corner of the Shortridge tract.

The west side of Bala Ave. 4 Ft. will be widened from Montgomery Ave. to Highland Ave. by an overall width of four feet. A new concrete sidewalk was built by the Township last Fall in anticipation of the State's plans to widen Bala Ave. itself. At its completion the street will be an eight inch, uniform, reinforced concrete pavement.

As a part of plans to improve the drainage system of South Ardmore and Wynnewood, a new concrete inlet will be constructed at the corner of Argle and Hillside Rds.

Six existing inlets on Haverford Rd. between West Wynnewood Rd. and the Radnor Township Line in both Lower Merion and Haverford Townships will be enlarged to carry off excess rainwater.

Actual plans for the three projects were drawn up several years ago, but the outbreak of the war prevented letting of contracts for the work until the present time.

Thomas Wynne from Penn and called "Wynstay" after the family's home in Wales.

"Wynstay" was 1000-acre tract stretching over what is now known as Wynnefield, in Philadelphia, and Wynnewood, in Lower Merion Township.

At the age of 21 Mr. Wynn purchased a 250-acre farm near Coatesville, which he farmed until 1919 when he moved to Ardmore.

Mr. Wynn's Survivors
In addition to his wife, Mrs. Nellie Dunn Wynn; his three sons, Frank Wynn, Jr., of Huntingdon, W. Va., Hugh Wynn of Ridley Park, and Emmett, of Green Castle, Pa.; and by five daughters, Miss Cora Wynn, of Ardmore; Miss Ruth Wynn, of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Clarence Beatty, of Bryn Mawr; Mrs. John W. Murray and Mrs. David C. Turkington, both of Chester; and four grandchildren survive.

Mr. and Mrs. Wynn would have celebrated their 50th Wedding Anniversary in April next year.

Funeral services were held Wednesday from his home, and a Solemn Requiem Mass was also celebrated Wednesday at St. Columban's Church, Ardmore. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Bryn Mawr.

Main Line C. of C. To Meet Wednesday

The first Fall meeting of the Main Line Chamber of Commerce will be held Wednesday noon at the Haverford Court Hotel, A. E. Hickerson, president, announced this week.

Speaker will be Russell Powell, of the Northwestern Life Insurance Co., a former instructor at the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania. His subject will be "Distribution and Personnel in Retailing."

The Religion and Labor Group of the Main Line YMCA will resume its dinner meetings at the "Y" on Thursday evening, September 12. James Costello of Local 131 UAW CIO Union and A. O. Becker are co-chairman.

Hit-Run Driver Held After Chase

A 35-year-old Haverford man, Lee Green, of Buck Lane, tried unsuccessfully to make a getaway Saturday night after his truck narrowly missed plowing into a group of people waiting for a bus on Haverford Ave., at Columbia, Overbrook.

Green's truck, Philadelphia police said, sideswiped a second automobile, careened across the street, just missing the crowd of people who scurried to safety. It then smashed into a telephone pole, bounced back into the street, struck a parked car and sped away, despite a flat tire.

William McCash, 49, of Philadelphia, a huckster, gave chase and forced Green's truck to the curb a half mile away. He held Green prisoner until police arrived.

Green was charged with reckless driving, drunken driving and leaving the scene of an accident.

he doesn't suit you, run yourself. Don't criticize his mistakes. He is your fault. You put him there.

"Montgomery County does a fine job. It should be criticized least, but you must register your beliefs. This is a country, where everybody counts—but only if he is willing to stand up and be counted."

Pitman was introduced by John A. Lafore, Jr., chairman of the Township Committee, who presided at the dinner meeting, held at the Haverford Court Hotel.

The meeting was held to launch an intensive register-to-vote campaign which has been organized on a house-to-house basis.

Lafore predicted that the drive will result in the heaviest registration at the November election in the history of the township.

"The greatest privilege we, as Americans, possess is the right to vote," he declared. "Let us be sure that no member of our community is deprived of this right because he or she is not registered."

Chauffeur Is Held For Drunken Driving

James O'Connor, 41, of 820 Merion Square Rd., Gladwyne, a chauffeur for S. Bromley, Jr., of the Merion Square Rd. address, was held in $500 bail for court on a drunken driving charge Friday by Justice of the Peace Joseph E. Allen, Jr.

Lower Merion police testified at the hearing that O'Connor's car crashed into a telephone pole last Thursday at 900 Merion Square Rd., Gladwyne, when he failed to round a curve.

Damage to the car was an estimated $150. Neither O'Connor nor a passenger in the car were injured.

He will leave for France at the end of September and study political science for a year at the University of Paris.

Since March he has been employed by the French Government to aid in the shipment back to France of works of art sent to America for safe keeping at the time of the French defeat in 1940. Hopkins is married to the former Susan Durgin, who will go to France with her husband.

Overbrook Girl, 17, Escapes Auto Injuries

Mary E. Donahue, 17, of 1013 Indian Creek Drive, Overbrook, narrowly escaped injury last Thursday morning when the automobile she was driving on Montgomery Ave., at Haverford Ave., Narberth, was struck in the rear by a truck.

Operator of the truck, Lower Merion Police Sgt. Joseph Mawhinney said, was Isaac Griffin, 33, of 4613 Umbria St., Manayunk, a driver for the Marlow Farms Inc., of Mary Water's Ford Rd., Cynwyd. He told police his brake pedal broke off after he put his foot on it to stop the car.

Damage to Miss Donahue's car was an estimated $300. Damage to the truck was $150.

Authority On Deaf Talks To Rotarians

The Rev. Stephen Landherr, pastor of St. Boniface's Church, 174 W. Diamond St., Philadelphia, spoke on "The Deaf and Hard of Hearing" at Thursday's luncheon meeting of the Ardmore Rotary Club at the Haverford Court Hotel.

Guests at last week's meeting included Ralph Dunne, of Narberth, director of Rotary International and former District Governor.

Former Main Line Art Teacher To Hold September Exhibition

As a landscape painter, country editor, art critic and a former Bala-Cynwyd art teacher, Walter Emerson Baum, cousin of Wynnewood's Russell Ernest Baum, has been well-known on the Main Line and the Philadelphia area for 40 years.

Although Walter is now an Associate of the National Academy and will have a one-man show at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, Philadelphia, in September, when he began painting at the age of eight, it was without much encouragement or recognition from his teachers.

The story begins in Sellersville, Bucks County, where Walter was born in 1884. It was at the age of two that he first noticed a painting on the wall of his mother's bedroom.

"Even now," he reminisces, "I can remember that picture. It had everything in it that a child could desire to see around a farm. As I recall, it was a Currier and Ives print, and I still can see every detail of it, down to the chickens in the barnyard."

Baum gives his cousin, Russ, a great deal of credit for his success. He has taken many of his paintings and displayed them at his home, "Spring Valley," Remington Rd., Wynnewood. Many people have seen them there because Russ' parties are famous on the Main Line, and he has so many guests.

Long Interested In Art
Walter always has been interested in painting for painting's sake, and while he did not get good grades as a child because his teachers said his work was not neat enough, he kept at it because he liked it.

He was married at the age of 21 to Flora Barndt, also of Sellersville, whom he credits with having made him an artist, though he denies that he fits into such a category.

She was the one who inspired him to attend the Academy after his teacher, the famous W. T. Trego, died during Walter's sixth year of study with him. Trego was well-known as a military artist.

Paints With Wife
Walter and his wife still paint together, as they have for many years, even during the time that Walter was editing the Sellersville "Herald." He has written and painted for as long as he can remember, and he is now Art Editor of The Evening Bulletin. Otherwise, he retired from the newspaper business five years ago because of overwork. His wife manages his painting school and his son, Robert, oversees his art exhibitions. His life has become a little less hectic than before, as a result.

A prolific painter, he estimates that he has done several thousand paintings. Fifty of these are now hanging at his cousin Russ' Wynnewood home. Chief among the works at "Spring Valley" is "North Country," a fine example of his winter scenes, with the extreme blue coloring for which he is noted.

It has been said often than an artist should paint or write what he knows best. Walter has done just that. Most of his landscapes are scenes from near his Bucks County home, and they reflect his Pennsylvania Dutch background.

INSIDE WASHINGTON—

Sen. Byrd's Victory in Primary Encourages Rep. Howard Smith

Special to Central Press
WASHINGTON — Political observers are saying that the primary victory of Senator Harry E. Byrd in Virginia has encouraged Rep. Howard W. Smith of Alexandria to seek the Senate seat now held by Senator Thomas G. Burch.

Burch has declared that he wishes to retire from public office and relinquish the seat to which he was appointed on the death of the late Senator Carter Glass. The Virginia incumbent served in the House before he was elevated to the upper chamber.

The forthcoming Virginia Democratic contest will be to pick a candidate to run for the remainder of Glass' term, which ends in 1949.

Smith, named recently to succeed himself as a member of the lower chamber, long has had his eye on a Senate seat. He is said to believe that now the time is ripe, particularly with Senator Burch ready to call it quits.

Senator Harry F. Byrd's victory was a clear-cut defeat of OIO-PAC elements, who assailed his conservative record in the chamber on domestic issues.

Smith has taken much the same position on most domestic issues that Byrd has. He has been attacked by the same political foes. The slim Virginian from Alexandria reportedly is seeing his political star in the ascendancy as a result of Byrd's victory and is ready to take the leap into larger waters.

The army expects to fly an airplane at a speed of 1,500 miles per hour and at an altitude of 80,000 feet within the next year. This supersonic, rocket-propelled aircraft is the XS-1, which now is virtually ready to make its first powered flight but will not attempt to exceed the speed of sound until some time in 1947.

The plane was designed and built under the joint supervision of the Army Air Forces Air Materiel Command and the Bell Aircraft corporation of Buffalo, N. Y.

Both died in the rules committee, of which Slaughter was a member, largely because of the opposition of Slaughter and five other Democratic members from southern and border states.

Presumably, if the Democrats retain control of the House, an administration supporter will be named to replace Slaughter, which would assure sufficient votes to bring the two bills before the House for a vote.

Both bills stand a good chance of rules committee approval even if the Republicans gain control, for both parties are committed to support the legislation.

Slaughter cast the deciding vote which killed the FEPC bill in the rules committee and thus incurred the enmity of President Truman and other powerful groups. He also voted consistently against other administration measures.

Veterans And Service News

There's No Parking Problem In Suburban Square

EDITOR'S NOTE: This newspaper, through special arrangement with the Washington Bureau of Western Newspaper Union at 1816 Eye Street, N.W., Washington, D. C., is able to bring readers this weekly column on problems of the veteran and serviceman and his family. Questions may be addressed to the above Bureau and the editor will be answered in a subsequent column. No replies can be made direct by mail, but only in the column which will appear in this newspaper regularly.

Provisions of Terminal Pay

Veterans' Service Bureau today contains the answers to countless inquiries which have come to our Washington office concerning provisions of the new terminal pay law for enlisted men, recently signed by the President. Official title to the act is the armed forces leave act of 1946, which, by the way, is the first major revision of armed forces leave policies in 70 years, since the basic law respecting army and navy officers' leaves dates from 1874, with an amendment in 1876.

Here's what the act does: Overall, it gives to about 15 million former army, navy, marine and coastguard members an estimated 2.7 billion dollars in cash and interest bearing five-year bonds. Essentially the act gives officers and enlisted men and women of all services identical leave rights and limits the amount of leave which any individual may accrue to 60 days, instead of the maximum of 120 days for officers as heretofore.

Men still in active service who have accumulated from 61 to 120 days leave as of September 1, 1946, will be reimbursed in cash and bonds for the balance over 60 days, and on September 1 will have to their credit 60 days leave. As more leave time accrues to these persons, they must take their leave or lose credit for it.

All veterans who already have left the service will be paid in cash and bonds for accumulated leave not taken up to 120 days between September 8, 1939, and September 1, 1946. The treasury, the army and the navy have outlined the following steps to be taken by veterans in applying for their payments.

1. Obtain from any post office in the country a form entitled, "Claim for Settlement, Unused Leave" and the instruction sheet which goes with it.

2. Fill out this form, following the instruction sheet. If assistance is desired it may be obtained at any of the 3,000-odd veterans' community information or advisory centers throughout the nation, or at the office of any state or county veterans' service officer.

3. Swear to or affirm the statements made in the form before a notary public or other official authorized to administer oaths. The majority of the community information or advisory centers will provide this notarial service free of charge.

4. Mail the completed form, together with your discharge certificate, or certification of service for each period of service covered in the claim, to the appropriate army, navy, marine corps or coast guard paying officer listed on the reverse side of the claim listed on the reverse side of the claim form. Your discharge certificate may be the original, a photostatic copy, or a certified copy. If the original discharge certificate has been lost or destroyed, a certificate in lieu of discharge will be considered as valid evidence for payment, will be issued on application to the appropriate one of the following agencies: For example the Adjutant General's office, 4300 Goodfellow Blvd., St. Louis 20, Mo.; for navy, Chief of Naval Personnel, Navy Department, Washington 25, D. C.; U. S. Marine Corps, Washington 25, D. C.; for Coast Guard, Washington 25, D. C.

In case of veterans from the army, a form for which to apply for a certificate may be obtained at any recruiting office. It is good idea to have at least one photostatic copy of your original discharge certificate made for your own files.

Local Delegates Pause In Parade

5. Upon receipt of the claim and supporting papers, the paying officer will examine all documents to make certain they are in proper form for payment, and after the supporting documents have served their purpose, they will be mailed back to you. Payment will be made as soon as possible, possibly by October 1. But do not write or call in person to paying officers inquiring about your claim. It will only delay speedy settlement of claims.

6. If the amount of the claim is less than $50, or if the claimant is less than 65 years of age, service before January 1, 1943, payment will be made in full by treasury check. For claims over $50 payment will be in bonds in multiples of $25, with a check for the balance. For instance, if the leave claim is for $219, the veteran will get $200 in $25 bonds and a check for $19. In cases where veterans have died, or in cases where they have been adjudged incompetent, payment will be made fully by check to survivors.

Villanova To Use 12 Quonset Huts

Will House Veterans
And Be Used For Offices, Study Halls

Construction of four pre-fabricated two-story barracks and 12 Quonset huts to be used as offices, cafeterias, study halls and dormitories at Villanova College will be completed by Oct. 1, the Rev. Francis X. McGuire, president of the college, announced this week.

Obtained without cost to the college from the Federal Public Housing Authority officials, the barracks and the Quonset huts were shipped to Villanova from New York last week.

They will occupy a plot of ground 350 by 400 feet between the Commerce and Finance Building and the Stadium.

Gov't Pays Costs
Not only the cost of the buildings themselves and their transportation, but also the cost of the Federal Government, but also the financing of sewage and plumbing facilities is being handled by the government under provisions of the G. I. Bill of Rights.

Use of U. S. Army surplus housing materials to build facilities for students attending college partly at government expense is a temporary measure until the supply of regular building materials becomes greater.

This year's enrollment this week that Villanova's enrollment will be more than 1700 compared to a pre-war number of 900. Resident students will number at least 850 compared to 550.

SPORTS
SCENE

By JACK FORD

Usually, football officials are expected to possess the wisdom of a Solomon and the judgment of a Supreme Court Justice. The fact that rules makers are constantly juggling the standards from season to season only makes their work more involved.

However, two PIAA officials are attempting to make their job a little lighter this season. Dr. Frank P. Maguire, commissioner of Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association officials, and Executive Secretary Edmund Wicht are making a flying tour of the State. Dr. Maguire and Wicht are conducting rules interpretation meetings in 10 different districts. They visited Philadelphia suburban referees and coaches yesterday, acquainting them with 1946 football rules changes at Upper Darby High.

Six rules changes are listed in the release issued by Dr. Maguire. Only a couple are expected to greatly affect Suburban Conference play this season; some, such as that ordering contrasting jerseys, definitely were needed.

Artificial tees, used on kickoff plays, have been okayed by PIAA rulemakers and will make their first appearance in the State this fall. They were made legal by a change in the National Federation football rules, providing the tee is of pliable material and is not more than three inches high. The artificial tee is expected to be a factor in many games, because a lengthy and accurate kickoff can force the receiving team to take the offensive deep within its own territory. Previously, only dirt tees could be used.

The comparatively recent advent of many pass plays has made the color of jerseys worn by opposing eleven an important factor. The rule stipulates that the home team has first choice in the color of jersey to be worn, if it notifies the visiting club in advance of the colors it will wear.

Forward and backward motion also has been clarified and amplified in another rule change. As revised, the rule makes it clear to officials, players and fans that a direct parallel with a yardline is considered backward when a pass is involved, but it is considered forward when movement of a player is concerned.

Failure of the offensive team to have seven players on the line will be listed as a form of offense this season. The referee does not have authority to blow his whistle before the play ends if a team commits such an infraction, however.

Changing the terminology for greater clarity, the rules committee now defines a passer as: "One who has thrown a legal forward pass." Previously, the rule stated that a passer was "one who legally passed forward."

Under the new rule, a player is a potential ball carrier while he still holds the ball. He becomes a passer only after he has passed the ball forward. Since rushing the passer has become a common practice, this clarification will establish a finer line of demarcation between a passer and a ball carrier.

Rule makers also have sought to speed up games and eliminate the delays caused by the necessity of waiting until the clock stopped before making substitutions. A substitution may now go on the field whenever the ball is dead. If the clock is running, however, not more than two substitutes from the same team may enter the game.

They will then enter at the risk of having the 30-second time limit expire, or of having the offensive team snap the ball before substitutions are completed. Previously, the clock was charged if substitutes appeared while the clock was running.

BOROUGHITES AT MANOA,
HILLERS VISIT ARDMORE
IN CRUCIAL 4th GAMES

Making up for a bad beginning, Narberth and Drexel Hill swept to two consecutive victories in the Main Line Baseball League playoffs to take a 2-1 advantage over the holiday weekend.

The preliminary playoffs will be resumed Saturday, when Narberth will play at Manoa and Drexel Hill will play at Ardmore. Both Narberth and the Hillers can clinch the series by winning on Saturday.

If Manoa and Ardmore triumph, this evening the series, the deciding games will be staged this Sunday at Narberth's Borough Field and on Drexel Hill's diamond at City Line and Burmont Rd.

The two finalists of this best out of five-game series will qualify for a similar series, beginning the following week-end, with the title vacated by Brookline at stake.

Manoa got the jump on Narberth's perennially powerful team by scoring a 3-2 triumph last Saturday at Narberth, but the Boroughites evened the series Sunday with a 7-5 decision. Under a bright Labor Day sun, Narberth took one-game lead by winning, 6-3, on its own field.

Ardmore suffered the same fate after winning by 2-1 in its initial test. Drexel Hill evened Sunday with a 4-1 win, then hung up an exciting 7-6 victory the following day.

Bill Kaibres, Manoa moundsman, gave up twice as many hits as Narberth's Jack Williams in their opening clash, but managed to weather a ninth-inning uprising to squeeze through.

Williams, Main Line League leading pitcher, was charged with only four hits and struck out 10. Kaibres gave up eight safeties and struck out seven.

Narberth took a one-run lead in the opening inning when Al Shuckman walked and scored on Jerry McCarthy's single. Manoa evened in the third and scored the deciding run when Walt Kaminski singled to center and checked in on Joe Papayev's hit.

Lefty Al Becker, Ardmore's recent recruit from Narberth's sandlots, limited Drexel Hill to four hits to win their opener, 2-1. Art DiGirola's homer put Ardmore ahead in the second.

In their second encounter, Manoa and Narberth battled through 10 innings before the Boroughites scored two runs to decide. Successful singles by Al Shuckman, Jerry McCarthy (it was his fifth straight hit), Harry Fox and veteran Buddy Walker carried Narberth to victory against Joe Papayev, Manoa hurler. Caniglia pitched for Narberth.

Jack Creaney, Drexel Hill's No. 1 pitcher, never was in trouble, while, as he tamed Ardmore with eight hits. Art DiGirola hit his second homer within two days to give Ardmore a 1-0 lead in the second, but the Hillers retaliated with three in the fifth frame. Frank Cameron's triple featured the rally.

On Labor Day, Narberth rallied

L. Merion Police
Pistol Team Wins

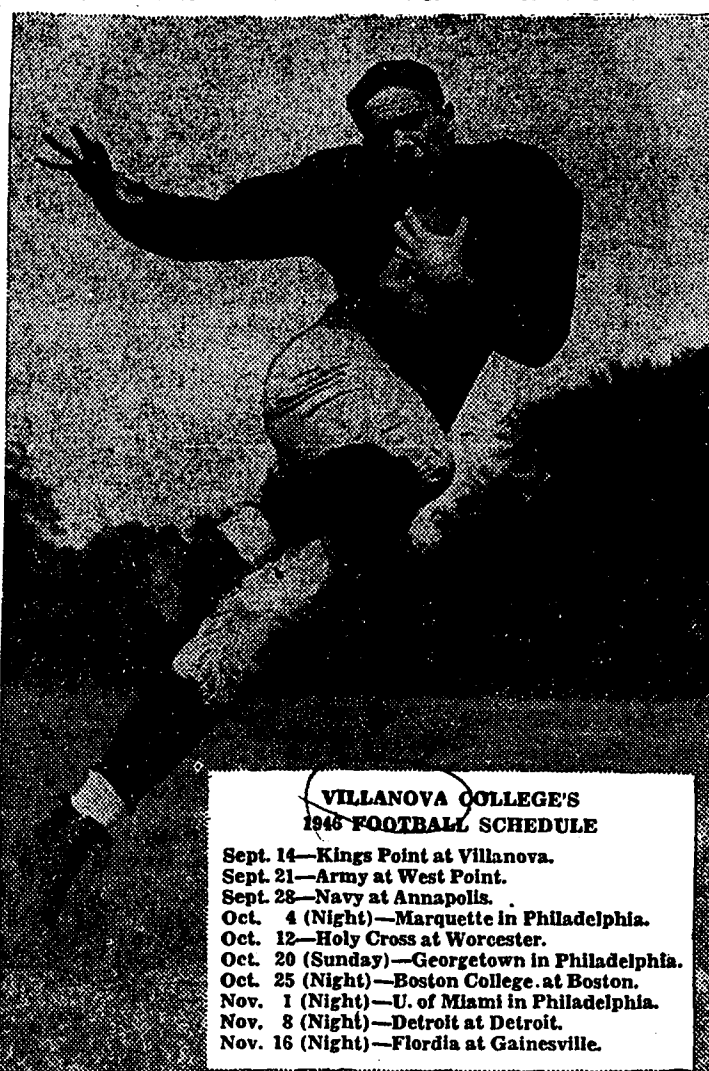

Maintaining its breath-taking pace, Lower Merion's police pistol team triumphed over Broomall, 1135 to 1083, in a 38-caliber shoot at Narberth Saturday. Flourtown defeated Broomall in a 22-caliber match.

John Komiskey, captain of the Lower Merion squad, topped his team with 286, while Alce Mathews was high for Broomall with 280. Lance Hathaway equaled her mark for the Merionites. Other Lower Merion scorers: Frank Flynn 275; Brady Utz, 268.

Lower Merion's marksmen, among the finest in the country, recently captured the Eastern Police Pistol League championship for the eighth time. They have compiled 16 consecutive victories and have yet to meet defeat, with four matches remaining.

The police pistol league was organized in 1933 and Lower Merion Police failed only twice to take the title. John Komiskey is league leader with a 286 average.

Lyons
On The Links

By MARTY LYONS
Llanerch Country Club golf pro and president, Philadelphia PGA
The No. 8 iron, perhaps a much-maligned club among many golfers really is one of the handiest clubs in your bag. With the 8-iron you can play anything from a chip, lousy shot to a very short cut.

The club is especially useful when the greens are fast and you need extra loft to make the ball stick. Many golf pros play a half or three-quarter shot with the No. 8 in preference to a full shot with the 9-iron.

Personally, I have found that method very useful in my own game. The important thing to remember is to use very little hand action. Let the arms and body do most of the work. In this instance, the main function of the hands is to hold the golf club firmly.

Remember that any conscious effort to use the hands spoils the stroke. For a full 8-iron shot, I take a comfortable stance, with the heels eight to 10 inches apart. The weight is evenly divided on both feet.

Try to address the ball slightly back of the center of the stance, with the clubhead square to the line of flight. The body turn as you begin the backswing will carry the arms and club to the top.

On the forward motion of the body, transfer the weight from the right to the left foot. The body will control the entire motion of the so-called "inside out" swing, and the length of the backstroke controls the distance you will hit the ball.

If you want to hit a half shot, just let the turn go back to where you can generate only half power. And when you chip with the No. 8 iron, use a very short stroke, with the feet close together.

In next week's column, Marty Lyons will tell how to play the No. 9 iron.

Brookline Passers
Will Transfer Loop
To Arena Tussles

The Main Line Basketball League will operate in a big-time setting this winter.

This was revealed yesterday by Herb Good, who announced that he had secured league permission to transfer all Brookline Mitchell and Ness home games to the Philadelphia Arena, where his team will play on Thursday nights preliminary to the Philadelphia Warriors, member of the new Basketball Association of America.

Good said he regretted taking the games away from Brookline's small but loyal following at Haverford High, but that the opportunity was too great to pass up.

"I consider it an excellent break for the league and our players and I believe Haverford Township will be getting a better break in the advertising we'll be getting the community than if we remained at Haverford High," explained Good.

"In order to provide local recreation for those fans who might not be able to follow us to the Arena, we'll try to arrange a few exhibition games at Haverford High and will also sponsor a Haverford team that will play there Monday nights in our stead. We'll consider this Haverford team our 'farm' and will enter it in the Main Line B League if that league is reorganized."

Good pointed out that Brookline is moving to the Arena strictly on an independent arrangement, having no ties with the pro Warriors.

"We'll operate as usual on an amateur basis and will maintain our policy of stressing local talent," he explained. "But we do expect to take advantage of the league rule allowing each team two 'outside' players. We're going to sign up the two best players we can find so that we'll have a team worthy of competing in a big time setting."

Head horse among the latter type is "Windmill", who will appear with the Roy Rogers world championship rodeo, opening at the Philadelphia Arena on Friday, September 13.

One of more than 50 man-hating broncs with the Rogers' rodeo, "Windmill" has won fame by consistently disposing of tophand cowboys who have dared to attempt a ride.
